Active Learning Laboratory

Q5 Location of Request

F-507 or another 40x20 (800+ squarefoot space)

Q6 DescriptionPlease provide a brief description of the space or items being requested.

A standard, lecture-oriented classroom can meaningfully be converted to an "active learning laboratory" by changing out the single-chair desks to multiple-chair round tables. This Active Learning Laboratory is modeled after Technology Enabled Active Learning Laboratory (for example, see https://it.ucmerced.edu/teal). In lieu of a TEAL Lab, which would require far more planning and resources, an AL Lab can being the process of demonstrating how such rooms can be functionally utilize for the benefit of student learning and outcomes.

Q7 Please provide the justification for the request, discussing the following: How will the request (and associated program review goal) support the College's mission and strategic priorities? Does the request address any health, safety, or security issues? Ir so, please describe them. What do program or service area data indicate with regard to growth in increased demand for services? How will the request advance the continuous quality improvement of the department or work area?

·   How will the request (and associated program review goal) support the College's mission and strategic priorities?
The lecture-structure classroom, while useful in some ways, is also outdated in other ways. Innovation pedagogy that centers on active learning and project-based learning offers student dynamic opportunities to interact with their peers in small groups, while maintain a large-class setting.

This request advancing Goal #4 and the College's Strategic Goals of Guided Pathways and Student Engagement and Validation.

·   Does the request address any health, safety, or security issues? Ir so, please describe them.
There are no healthy and safety or security concerns, besides ensuring that the classroom setup is approved by the fire marshal.

·   What do program or service area data indicate with regard to growth in increased demand for services?
Not available

·   How will the request advance the continuous quality improvement of the department or work area?
Dr. Franco, prior to being hired at Cuyamaca College, pioneered the utilization of UC Merced's Technology Enabled Active Learning (TEAL) Laboratory. After undergoing training, he used this space for five courses over 3 different semesters. Based on student evaluations and pre-test/post-test surveys, he found that students appreciated the physical structure of the TEAL Lab because it allowed for seamless transitions between large-class lecturing to small-group discussions and collaborations.

Q8 What is the estimated one-time cost of the request?
